Washington.—The bells that ring in 1922 will usher in a business revival that will develop in due course into a "new era of prosperity" for the United States.

This confident prediction was made Thursday by W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve board. Choosing his words with care and weighing his phrases before he uttered them, Harding told what his exceptional opportunities for surveying the nation's financial condition have shown him.

"Business has passed through the primary stage, the acute period of reaction," he said summing up his observations. "It is my sober conviction that basic financial conditions are very much better than they were 12 months ago."

"There are many indications that the beginning of a revival cycle is not far distant. When it does definitely set in, it will be followed in due course by a new era of prosperity."

Speaking thus, Harding sitting at his desk in the treasury, looked like a finance expert. By reaching out his hand to press a button he marshaled "battalions of figures" and facts to support his predictions.

Harding sits here in Washington, but his eye is everywhere. He can tell you at a given moment the state of the financial health of any city in the country or of the country as a whole. He has his finger on the country's gold pulse.

If you saw him on the street you might mistake him for a doctor or a lawyer, or a preacher—a quiet, homely kind man, whose clothes fit him but look as though they don't.

TREND IS EVIDENT
"Why do you think a business revival is indicated?" Harding was asked with animation. "Because his prediction might be considered official optimism."

He repudiated that suggestion. "There are well defined cycles in business," he said. "We are nearly at the end of a long period of slow liquidation, business depression and stagnation. Such a period is followed by revival."

High railroad rates and taxes, high costs of fuel and rent and the impaired condition of agriculture are the chief barriers to complete economic restoration, Harding said.

HOPE FOR FARMER
"But," he added, "I think the outlook for the farmer is more hopeful. Also, for some months past, there has been a marked easing of the credit situation. Notwithstanding some features of our revenue laws, the investment market is now absorbing securities at rates which would not have been considered a few months ago. Liberty bonds are at or approaching par. Good railroad and industrial bonds have gained, as have some standard stocks."

These things, Harding said, show money health.

The arms conference, he declared, has had a stabilizing effect and will do much towards restoring prosperity.

"The proceedings of the conference have already had a stabilizing effect," he said. "The notable advance in sterling exchange when the conference assembled was not mere coincidence. When money markets are released for productive use it will stimulate revival of business conditions."

"Stabilization of conditions in Europe, which should be helped by a successful outcome of the conference, should make it possible to engage in commercial and financial transactions with Europe on a much larger scale than at present."

Philadelphia, Pa.—"We should be thankful for the little bacteria in our Swiss cheese, sauerkraut and dill pickles for they are what gives those delicacies their good flavor, according to the twenty-third annual meeting of the Society of American Bacteriologists here Thursday."

The germ scientists also solved the mystery as to "why are the holes in Swiss cheese." It was explained that the bacteria in the cheese give off some kind of gas, which eats holes in the Swiss delicacy and gives it a pleasant taste.

Sleepers Are Rescued From Tenement Fire

New York.—Scores of persons were imperiled during the night by fires in New York tenements. Many thrilling rescues were made. The origin of the fires is being investigated.

Eighteen families were trapped when two tenements on Eighth Ave. burned. Police and firemen carried women and children down the fire escapes. Some of the tenants were dragged from their beds where they lay suffocating in their sleep. Four policemen saved the six children of James Maselli by passing them from hand to hand through the window and along a narrow ledge on the third floor.

More than 100 persons were trapped on the upper floor of a building on Union square by a chemical blaze. Many were overcome by the fumes. Michael J. Dinan, elevator operator, repeatedly ran his car past the floor which was afire, in his work of rescue.

Twenty four families fled down fire-escapes from a tenement on Eldridge-st. when flames swept it.

ARMY BUDGET
SLASH WOULD AID TAXPAYER

Republican Leaders Propose to Cut $300,000,000 from Appropriations

By Lawrence M. Benedict
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—A huge slash in army and navy appropriations for the next fiscal year—possibly $300,000,000—would be made by congress under plans framed by some of the most influential Republicans in the house, it was learned Thursday.

Such a cut would mean a saving of $3 in federal taxes to every man, woman and child in the United States or from $12 to $15 for the average family. It would be a reduction of more than one third in the amount asked for next year in the budget. Under this plan the estimates for war preparedness would be cut from a total of approximately $500,000,000 to $300,000,000.

RELIEVE PUBLIC
Republican leaders backing the plan take the attitude that a big reduction in army and navy expenses must be made for the relief of taxpayers regardless of the lack of complete agreement on armament limitation by the arms conference. Representative Madden, chairman of the house appropriations committee, is reliably reported to share the view.

It was learned Thursday that the deferred army appropriation bill which the house held up because of the conference, will be taken up in secret session by the house appropriations committee on Jan. 10. By that time house leaders have been informed, the American delegates believe, such consideration will not interfere with the arms conference.

New York.—Flendish child murders have become an epidemic on the Atlantic coast.

In New York and New Jersey alone 11 little victims have been placed in their graves in the last six months. Some were slain by infuriated parents. But most met death at the hands of maniacs with a mental sickness.

The whole east is aroused. In a region usually law abiding, mob violence is being preached as a remedial measure.

CHILDREN GUARDED
Parents, terror stricken, are guarding their little ones closely. Here are the 11 crimes:

A stranger addressed Theresa Kucharski, 5, playing before her New Brunswick home.

"Come with me," he said. "I've a Christmas present for you."

Theresa went. The next day her body was found crumpled in a suitcase. Gilbert Bean, 5, vanished while playing in a crowded New York street. His body, skull crushed, was found in an old wash tub.

Kidnapers seized Giuseppe Varotta, 5. They asked ransom. His parents could not pay. The kidnapers killed Giuseppe. They were found guilty of murder.

TO PAY DEATH PENALTY
Matilda Russo, 7, disappeared from her home in Moorestown, N. J. Her body was found in the cellar of a negro neighbor. The negro, Lewis Lively, will pay the death penalty.

Jeanette Lawrence, 11, was found stabbed, strangled and assaulted 400 feet from her home in Madison, N. J. Frank Jancarek, 22, will face trial in January.

Nicola Faba, 10, was playing a game in his front yard at Paterson, N. J.

"Stop that!" his father said. Nicola didn't.

His body was found kicked and beaten to death. His father was charged with the crime.

Richard Davis, Hornby, N. Y., lapsed. When his father couldn't understand Richard, he punished him so severely he died the mother says. That father's awaiting trial.

KILLS SMALL DAUGHTER
Nathaniel Ingraham, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was found guilty of strangling his daughter, 6, because she did not get up early.

Julius Planovsky killed his six-year old boy and himself here.

Mrs. Maria Erydelsov, Cliffside Park, N. J., has been charged with slaying David White, 7, by pushing him from her porch.

James Pagano, 17, is said to have confessed that he killed Frank Allesio, 6, when shooting at another boy.

Conference Delegates Still Hope
To Reach Agreement on Submarines

By David Lawrence

Washington.—Shall the submarine which wrought such havoc in the European war be the means of wrecking the concord of the major powers at the Washington conference?

For days the nations gathered here have wrestled with the question in vain. Some delegates despair of any settlement of the matter at this conference and suggest a new meeting of more nations to discuss submarines. Others insist that more patience will achieve an agreement.

The trouble lies chiefly in the abandonment of the formula used at the outset, namely agreeing on a principle that should govern naval strength before discussing each kind of craft. If Mr. Hughes had not insisted on applying that idea to the question of battleships, the conference would have been unable to reach any agreement on larger craft either. Mr. Hughes declared that "national needs" was too vague and indefinite a rule to apply and that existing strength could alone be used in trying to effect a compromise of national viewpoints.

HAS TECHNICAL SIDE
There is still another principle, namely the relationship of the submarine and light cruiser to the battleship as a technical unit for the navy. Experts have always had plenty of ratios determining how many submarines, destroyers, cruisers and auxiliary craft should be proportioned to each battleship fleet.

But Great Britain started out by insisting that all submarines be abolished. America refused to accept that viewpoint. So did France and Japan. Much argument was used to the defensive value of the submarine and emphasis was laid upon "national needs" again. The confusion of these two principles led the powers further and further astray until Mr. Hughes again tried a compromise by proposing.

FRENCH ATTITUDE ON SUBMARINES IS HELD "PRUSSIAN"

English Newspapers Denounce
Militaristic Refusal to Ease Conference

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—With smiles that linked the name of France with Prussian militarism, the newspapers here Thursday bitterly denounced the French refusal at Washington to limit submarines and hinted at grave consequences.

"The Chronicle led the attack."

"That France is playing the same part at Washington as Germany played at the Hague conference," it stated. "France has stepped in Germany's shoes."

The newspaper—a recognized Lloyd George organ usually expressing government opinion—declares it is impossible for Britain to assist France in her attempts to rise out of the financial quagmire if she insists on "tying everything for submarines."

"This isn't the bargaining point but the acid test," the Chronicle says.

The Times declares the French attitude will have "an unfortunate effect on American sympathy toward France." It states that the world must await another conference for a settlement of the entire question.

The Telegraph says Britain can be credited with a certain amount of credit since she challenged the world to dispense with submarines and agreed to sacrifice her own.

OIL WELL STARTS WITH VENGEANCE

By United Press Leased Wire
Orange, Tex.—Oil field workers battled vainly Thursday to throttle what was declared to be Texas' greatest oil rush.

The Humble company's "Cresson No. 3" brought in Monday, tore away the checks and other machinery at its head and threw a slant spout of oil that wrecked surrounding derricks as it fell, hundreds of feet into the air.

The gusher opens a new field. The roar of the oil as it came up from a depth of 2,500 feet was heard for miles. All around the well was a sea of oil.

Competent oil men declared the new gusher at least 20,000 barrels daily. The well is 500 feet deeper than any other in coast territory.

Sneaked Into U.S.; May Go Back To Russia

Milwaukee.—Charged with having entered the United States without passport, two native Russian women were brought before the immigration inspectors here Wednesday.

The women are sisters—Fannie and Rosie Schmidt and they have made their home here since Oct. 25 when they arrived from Detroit after having crossed the international boundary line. Evidence brought out in the hearing will be sent to Washington, where decision as to whether they shall be deported will be made.

OLD MEN IN COURT REPEAT 10-YEAR OLD MURDER TALE

Gray Haired Trio Tells of Death of Annie Lemberger at Madison Trial

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—Feeble testimony by three aged men, in their prime ten years ago when they were neighbors of Martin Lemberger, accused of the murder of his 7-year-old daughter, Annie, marked the preliminary hearing of Lemberger in superior court here Thursday.

The trio, gray haired and bearded, had great difficulty in hearing the questions of the examiners who were trying to reestablish for Presiding Judge A. C. Hoppmann the minute circumstances of the brutal crime of September, 1911.

John "Dogskin" Johnson, brought from Wisconsin penitentiary, where he is serving a life sentence for the confessed murder of the child, was in court again Thursday morning, under guard, but was not called to the witness stand.

Testimony late Wednesday by John White, negro, who lived next door to the Lembergers at the time of the crime, was counted as a point for the defense. Under cross examination by defense attorneys he became confused and repudiated a sworn affidavit of a "noisy party" at the Lemberger home the night of the crime, by saying he "didn't know" and that he "couldn't swear to it."

Balfour told the conference substantially:

"While it is almost unthinkable that the respective countries (Britain and France) could be on anything but cordial terms, one must not overlook the teaching of history."

THINGS MIGHT HAPPEN
"Suppose the almost inconceivable happened and close allies became enemies; it is perfectly clear that in that case no British superiority of capital ships would imperil the life of France for an hour. To be fair, I must admit that it might conceivably imperil some remote islands belonging to France, but France with her land armament would remain secure in the face of superior sea power."

The proposed plan of session to allow announcement of the 5-5-3 ratio acceptance and failure of submarine limitation probably will be held either Saturday or Monday, with the stronger likelihood in favor of Monday.

A treaty embodying this agreement with whatever arrangements are made as to auxiliaries and airplane carriers, will soon be made.

FRANCE IS FIRM
Paris.—France is determined to stand by her submarine demands despite the criticism that has been heaped upon her. It was stated semi-officially here Thursday.

The government does not believe it is possible to reach any agreement at the Washington conference on this issue or the aircraft question.

Naval officials here expressed surprise and were grieved at the statement of Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the British arms conference delegation, regarding the menace of French submarines.

France does not intend to use these undersea boats and light naval craft, officially, it was said.

"BUNK," BURCH IDEA OF PLEA FOR HIS INSANITY

Los Angeles.—"It's the bunk," in these words Arthur C. Burch, accused of the murder of John Edgar Kennedy, Thursday expressed his opinion of the attempt being made by defense attorneys to prove him insane.

While these experts in mental disorders lead the jury through mazes of observations and conclusions on what they think is going on inside the brain of the little man accused of one of the most spectacular crimes in years, the defendant himself sits and smokes.

The battle of alienists was to continue Thursday. The defense did not conclude with its technical witnesses Wednesday, as expected and court opened Thursday with a full witness list.

Beginning with the New Year, no "box locals" (advertisements surrounded by reading matter) will be accepted for publication in The Post-Crescent, but in their stead we will offer what is termed "black locals," samples of which will be found scattered on the various inside pages of this issue.

The rate on black locals will be 25c per line.

The change is made with a view to improving the typographical appearance of The Post-Crescent and is in accord with the best newspaper practice.

SIX DEAD; TWO DYING FROM POISON BOOZE

New York.—Two more are dead Thursday due to drinking poison whiskey, bringing the death list to six. Two men are dying. Walter Smith and Walter Young, negro, are the latest victims.

Chicago.—Chicago's city council Thursday was definitely on record in favor of beer and light wines.

By a 52 to 6 vote the council adopted a resolution demanding manufacture, sale and distribution of "voluptuous beers and light wines."

Leaders in the movement declared Chicago within the last few days had tested its first aridity since prohibition became effective, and did not like it.

Meanwhile, National Prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes, Washington, personally was conducting the New Year's anti-booze campaign.

Chicago—"Gold Coast" society was alive Thursday with rumors connecting Harold E. McCormick and Mary Garden, grand opera star.

When McCormick was divorced Wednesday by his wife, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of the world's richest man, social leaders saw fulfilled Mary Garden's prediction that she would marry a millionaire before 1923.

Their names have been linked for some time.

At the magnificent revival of "Salome" Wednesday night, where McCormick and his wife occupied separate boxes, directly opposite to each other, Garden scored her greatest triumph in operatic roles.

Into the role of the exciting, fascinating, mad "Salome" Garden poured her whole soul. Her success was complete.

McCormick refused to talk about the rumored marriage, telling questioners, through his daughter, Muriel, that the "affair was too personal."

Garden too, was reticent about predictions she would marry McCormick, the "patron saint" of Chicago grand opera.

Meanwhile, settlement was being effected for the division of the fortunes of two of the richest families in America.

Mrs. McCormick, who will continue with her extensive study of "synthetic psychology," probably will live in the town house along the "Gold Coast," while McCormick, with Muriel and Fowler, occupy the Lake Forest country estate.

No mention of legal settlement was made when the divorce was granted in the quickest time on record here.

The divorce closes one of the gayest social centers of Chicago. The McCormick home was famous through America for its entertainments and receptions.

St. Paul.—Farmers who produce the nation's food are entitled to just as much consideration as the railroads that distribute it.

If the constitution guarantees the railroads a fair return on capitalization to prevent confiscation, it should also guarantee the farmer prices that will not mean confiscation of property.

These points were brought out at the hearing of the congressional committee investigating short term farm credits, late Wednesday. Chairman Gilbert Haugen explained in response to a suggestion, that congress has nothing to do with lowering railroad rates. That is up to the interstate commerce commission, he said, and that body is charged with seeing that the railroads receive a fair return on capital invested.

"Then why should not farmers be guaranteed prices that will not mean confiscation of property?" demanded Magnus Johnson, state senator from Kimball.

Chairman Haugen answered by telling of the packer control act, the grain gambling ban, the war finance corporation act and other agricultural legislation passed.

E. G. Quamme, president of the St. Paul Federal Land bank questioned the advisability of providing machinery for further farm credits. He said the farmers may need money, but in many instances to make more money available would have to be considered charity rather than credit.

Making moonshine is getting to be more hazardous every day. Three homes were raided by police officers on Wednesday and three stills were found. They were taken from the homes of Joseph Libal, 983 North Division st.; Albert Peotter, 982 North Division st.; and Joseph Dunsirn, 969 Mason st.

Dunsirn and Libal were sent to the workhouse for 30 days following their plea of guilty in municipal court Thursday morning. Peotter was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and costs, amounting in all to $204.40. The first raid was made on the North Division st. homes by Chief

Prim and Rankin visited the Libal home where they found about a quart of moonshine and about 60 gallons of mash and a complete moonshine still of about 10 gallons capacity. A gallon of kerosene was poured into the mash to run it and the moon and the still was confiscated. A search of the house revealed a box, about five feet long by three feet wide and deep, sunk in the cellar floor as a hiding place for the still.

FIND BIGGEST STILL

About 20 gallons of mash and a pint of moon was found in the Albert Peotter home, across the street from Libal's place. A copper wash boiler was the only part of the still that could be found. The largest still found thus far was taken out of a subcellar under the home of Joseph Dunsirn on Mason st. A search of the house failed to reveal any trace of a still or of moon-hine activities at the place. Finally the police learned that there were two false floors in the basement and when the boards were ripped up the still was found concealed. It was confiscated and Dunsirn placed under arrest.

ZONING NECESSARY FOR GROWING CITY

Prof. Smith, City Planner, to Offer His Suggestions Friday Evening

Zoning is the most fundamental thing that can be done in any community for promotion of its growth, said Leonard Smith, city planner, who is in Appleton to work with the city planning commission. He is mapping out plans for the betterment of the city and will submit them at a public meeting to be held in the vocational school Friday evening.

There are no expenses connected with zoning, he said, but to work out the plan it must have the cooperation of the people of Appleton. The biggest problem here, he says, is to devise an arterial system to regulate traffic.

At the meeting to be held Friday evening he will propose changes in the railroad lines leading into the city. Thursday evening he will outline his plans to the directors of the chamber of commerce at their regular meeting in the Sherman house.

At a meeting of directors of Fox River Valley Guernsey Breeders association at Hotel Northern Wednesday it was definitely decided to hold a sale next spring. The date was not determined, but it is understood it will be held Wednesday, May 3, the day preceding the Waunakee sale. A sales committee consisting of Emory Meltz, chairman, W. G. Jamison, Harry Leppla, Ora Breiterick, George Lucia and Paul O. Nyhus was appointed and will have charge of all the details. The new officers of the association elected at a meeting of the directors a week ago are Emory Meltz, president; Charles Schmidt, vice president; Harry Leppla, secretary; and W. G. Jamison, treasurer. Ora Breiterick was selected as the new director.

DEATHS

WANT ALL NATIONS
IN SUBSEA PACT

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington—A conference of all nations on limiting submarine activities, should the Root resolution to that effect be adopted by the arms conference, is desired by Secretary Hughes and President Harding, at the earliest possible moment, it was made known Thursday. Harding and Hughes conferred on this matter Thursday.

Both believe that if the five big powers agree to restrict submarine activities, the other nations should be given an opportunity to make similar pledges.

WOOD PRODUCTS CO. INSTALLS MODERN MOTOR EQUIPMENT

Individual Electric Motors and Central Control Provided in New System

The Appleton Woods Product Co. at Appleton Junction is installing new electrical motive equipment which will have four times the capacity of the present one and will reduce its insurance cost by making fires from electrical causes almost impossible. It will also reduce its cost of compensation by doing away with the possibility of accidents or deaths by electrocution.

The work is being done by the Valley Construction Co. of Neenah and will be completed within the next few days. The wiring is practically finished and the work of "cutting over" began Thursday by placing several of the wood working machines under the new system.

INDIVIDUAL MOTORS
Each machine is operated by an electric motor connected with a central switchboard in the basement where the power of any motor can be shut off in case of emergency without affecting any of the others. This was impossible under the present system which often made it necessary to shut down a portion of the plant in order to locate a defect.

The company has also just placed in operation a shoving collecting system which feeds automatically all the refuse from the machines direct to the boilers or to a bin provided for that purpose.

The plant is running at full capacity and is shipping its products to all parts of the country. It has been cramped for room for some time and the indications are that further expansions will be made in the near future.

GUARDIANS MUST REPORT TO JUDGE

Judge Bottensek Insists That Reports Shall be Correct and in on Time

Guardians of minors and estates soon will be notified by Judge John Bottensek that reports for the current year will be due Jan. 1 and must be filed within 60 days thereafter. The judge said most of the reports come in during the first two weeks in January but he has had much trouble in getting the proper kind of a report and must advise the guardians until a complete set of papers are filed. He says he insists that all reports be correct and must reach him in time.

Section 3971 of the revised statutes covering the duties of guardians in this respect reads as follows:

"Every general guardian shall render and file an account under oath and specify therein the amount of property received by him and remaining in his hands or invested by him, and the nature and manner of such investment and his receipts and expenditures during the year ending the 31st day of December in each year, which said annual account shall be rendered and filed within sixty days thereafter; and whenever ordered by the court, such guardian shall within thirty days, render and file a like account for any shorter term; and when any guardian of a minor shall have the custody of his ward and the care of his education, and in all cases when required by the court, he shall state in his annual report the length of time each of his wards has attended a public school during the year or part of a year for which the account is rendered, and shall also report which, if either, of the sureties upon his bond as such guardian, has died or removed from the county. Every guardian who fails so to render and file an account of his guardianship may be removed and another appointed in his place."

CAN YOU ANSWER?

Question — To remove gas from around the heart, relieve constipation, sour bloated stomach, to stimulate the kidneys and tone the liver what can be used to give relief and regulate the system?

Answer — Millions are now using Bulgarian Blood Tea with splendid success.

Question — What can be done to quickly relieve a cold and guard against Influenza, Bronchitis or Pneumonia?

Answer — Take a steaming hot cupful of Bulgarian Blood Tea—add some lemon juice. It heats the blood, increases the circulation and quickly moves the poisons from the bowels.

Question — What is Bulgarian Blood Tea?

Answer—Bulgarian Blood Tea is composed of pure herbs, roots, bark, leaves, seeds, plants and flowers. It has been used for centuries by the natives of Bulgaria, Arabia, Syria and Oriental Europe, and is said to have been first used in the city of Bagdad known as the cradle of Pharmacy.

It is said everywhere by druggists who are instructed by the American manufacturers to refund the purchase price if it fails to give satisfaction. Only supreme confidence in the medicinal value of Bulgarian Blood Tea inspires this liberal guarantee.

GUARD OFFICERS INSTRUCTED TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Four Officers of Co. D Will Attend Conference in Milwaukee

National Guard Officers of this city are scheduled to attend a school for commissioned officers in Milwaukee Jan. 4 and 5 by order of Adjutant General Holway. All commissioned officers in national guard units throughout the state are expected to attend the convention. Local officers of Company D, 127th Infantry, who have received orders to meet in Milwaukee are Capt. Frederick W. Hoffman, First Lieutenants Eric D. Lindberg and Ivaux Miller and Second Lieutenant Leonard Jacobs.

Officers will report accomplishments and inefficiencies of the last year in the local organizations and work for the coming year will be mapped out. There will also be a general report of battalion commanders on the inspection of their troops, as to equipment and personnel.

General Holway has recently returned from a meeting of all state adjutant generals and will report on their recommendations, some of which may be adopted by the Wisconsin guard.

THE FOREST SERVICE BILL

One of the constructive achievements of President Roosevelt is involved in the Curry bill in the house and the King bill in the senate which provide for transferring the forest service in whole or in part from the department of agriculture to the department of the interior. Hearings have been held and will shortly be continued. In the department of agriculture, where they are now, the forest service and the national forests are safe, and so well managed that (except for certain special interests) they have won the support of the nation. Their purpose is to grow trees, and they belong naturally in the department which has to do with growing all crops, including tree crops, from the soil. Forestry is a part of agriculture and is so recognized the world around.

The interior department is the real estate agent of the government. It is not the business of a real estate agent to grow crops on forest or farm. As a matter of fact, when the interior department had charge of the national forests, years ago, they were so badly handled that President Roosevelt was forced to insist upon their transfer to the department of agriculture. The modern progress of forestry in America dates from that change. The forest service has little business with the department of the interior, and what it has is rapidly diminishing. It has many times more business with the other bureaus of the department of agriculture, and that business is rapidly increasing. It is in constant and intimate cooperation with every branch of the department where it is now.

The department of agriculture has much forest work to do outside the national forests. There are more acres by twenty million in woodlots on farms than in all the remaining public domain, of which the interior department has charge. If the forest service transferred, the department of agriculture would be compelled to build up a similar organization, thus leading to more duplication in the government service instead of less. Forestry is doing admirably where it is. There does not seem to be any good reason for the proposed transfer.

It is current gossip in Washington that interests that attempted to gobble up the natural resources of Alaska in Secretary Ballinger's time are at it again. The best stalking horse of the men behind the grab is the claim that Alaska is going backward. The fact is that from 1910 to 1920 the exports from Alaska have increased from $13,608,394 to $62,469,096, or 366 per cent, while during the same ten years the exports from the United States increased from $1,866,258,904 to $8,228,016,307, or 340 per cent. Alaskan business has actually been growing faster than the business of the United States, although the latter has been increasing at a rate without precedent in the world's history.

The national forests in Alaska, if they can be saved, will produce two million cords of pulpwood annually for all time, or enough to supply one-third of the present needs of the United States. The forest service in the department of agriculture has completed plans for developing this great resource in a way to open it to the public but keep the grabbers out.

More than half our timber is gone already. Only one-sixth of our virgin forests remain, and they are being cut at a rate that will destroy them entirely before twenty-five years. Only a little more unrestricted forest devastation will bring down upon us the dangerous hardships of a timber famine. The cost of pulpwood and lumber is already proof enough of the stage to which the scarcity has already advanced, and of what is still ahead. In view of all the circumstances and the present work of the forest service we think it would be well to keep the service where it is.

IS THE DEBS' PARDON JUSTIFIABLE?

In principle and law there probably is not the least defensible reason for the clemency extended to Eugene V. Debs. He received full justice from the Supreme Court and was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years for interfering with recruiting during the war. His behavior was deemed by the tribunal to be a violation of the duty of patriotism.

But there is an excuse for Debs' pardon that is better, in a practical way, than a good reason. The excuse results from his prominence as a socialist and his pose as an independent thinker. His imprisonment was classed by his followers as persecution and he was looked on by them as a martyr to his convictions.

Taking these circumstances into account, it is apparently advisable, as a matter of general policy, to show clearly that he is not a martyr, and neither the government nor the people would cause him unnecessary suffering. The mercy portrayed by his release from prison will have the effect of stopping sympathetic agitation. Debs in all probability will cease hereafter to be a conspicuous figure.

READJUSTING THE WORLD'S FINANCES

The economic parley scheduled to be held in the first week of the year in Cannes will be the first official step with the object of placing Central Europe in a position to resume business. If it is to be as beneficial as it should be—in fact, if it is to be successful at all, it must develop, as Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain told Premier Aristide Briand of France, into a participation plan of the world's leading nations.

Casualty, it may appear that the financial readjustment and commercial rehabilitation of half or more of Europe is of but very slight material importance to the United States. But the serious fact is that the United States has more interest at stake in the reinvigoration of the debt-oppressed nations of the world than any other of the great financial and commercial powers.

Even prior to the world-war this country had reached the stage of industrial and agricultural progress that denoted the early, the almost immediate necessity of building up foreign markets for our surplus products. Leading economists, bankers and manufacturers foresaw the critical situation in which this country would be if it neglected its opportunities to become a vigorous competitor for the major part of international trade.

During the war the industrial and agricultural productivity of the United States was increased greatly, and at present the new, normal capacity is considerably in excess of American demand. Furthermore, we have become the creditor-nation, to which other peoples and governments are indebted. In plain terms, the war, while it did not involve us in world politics, did make us the greatest factor in the finance and business of the whole world.

The financially crippled nations cannot do business with the United States unless their money affairs are straightened out. If they have no money, they can pay us only with merchandise. If they must ship goods here year after year for a century to keep paying the interest on their obligations, the imports would keep our own business unsettled that long. If they sent us the interest money continuously, this accretion to our wealth would raise prices in the United States to such an extent that our trade would be confined to our own borders.

In many respects, it would be better for us to owe a reasonable amount of money to the rest of the world than to be the big creditor. Then, we necessarily would be sellers, that is, almost exclusively exporters.

On some scientific and politically satisfactory basis the United States will be obliged, for its own sake, to cooperate in the financial rehabilitation of the countries whose financial systems are in collapse. Our position is so secure and dominating that we can, while being friendly and merciful, compel tariff agreements along reciprocal lines and trade agreements for exports and imports—selling and buying—that will assure us permanent markets for our surplus products and provide us with foreign products that we require. If for no other reason than the selfish we will be forced to cooperate in the readjustment plan.

A SPADE IS A SPADE

The belly, no one need blush to know, is that part of the trunk in front not inclosed by the ribs. It isn't the stomach at all. Nor is it the abdomen. I freely concede it is the belly—one of the few things which folks have that I concede. But let us be sure we know first precisely what we are talking about. The belly is not the abdomen any more than legs are limbs. The abdomen is a cavity, not a sin. It contains things which are always called innards in our best periodical literature, that being a facetious and yet delicate way to get around the predicament that there is no other name for it in the English language. Might as well say "limbs" as say "abdominal wall" in lieu of belly. For there are four abdominal walls, just as there are four limbs, and it certainly is more refined and ladylike to say what you mean than to beat about the bush talking about limbs and stomachs.

I am a fairly stocky man, but not what one would call belly fat. I can forgive a man for carrying not to exceed 10 per cent slack flesh around with him as a regular exercise or pastime, but not one ounce more, for to my mind no crime is more cowardly than slow suicide. This does not imply that I think other crimes are less cowardly crimes than suicide is. Nor does it imply that I consider more than 10 per cent superfluous weight a crime at all. I say what I mean and I mean what I say. From what I have observed in my experience as a newspaper writer and the counselor and guide of about 17 per cent of the newspaper readers of the country, I should welcome a chair as professor of precise language in some well endowed university, a well up-holstered chair.

Now there are two places in which belly fat accumulates, one about as bad as the other. In the first place under the waistcoat; and in the second place under the corset; or technically speaking, we have subcutaneous or subcorsetous belly fat, and in bad cases both in the same family, tho not for long, because, as I have intimated, it never prolongs life appreciably, tho it does it. If we were just pigs, and not hogs, we might understand for the pig is one of the most intelligent animals—that our subcutaneous or subcorsetous fatness is due to overeating, purely and simply. Belly fat is the badge of the gourmand. It shrieks the shame of laziness. But alas, this stigma of hogghness grows upon the victim so insidiously that he or she is the last to hear the shriek, especially he. A woman's dressmaker is more candid than a man's tailor.

Internal and external "reducers" of all kinds are exploited for belly fat, the chief ingredient being bunk. Two miles of oxygen three times a day on the hoof, or its equivalent in the form of other exercises, as a minimum dose consonant with normal metabolism, is the best preventive. Of course the only real reducer is a judicious combination of exercise and temperance in eating.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sweets Before or After?
A friend has, for some years, had the habit of eating a few pieces of candy from half an hour to an hour before dinner each afternoon, and sometimes before breakfast (something like a cocktail, I say). She has an excellent digestion and is conscious of no ill effect from this habit. I tell her the habit will impair her digestion ultimately if it is continued. Do you think so?—(F. A.)

Answer—No. A bit of candy or other sweet shortly before a meal tends to diminish the appetite, and that is a good thing for a great many who might otherwise gorge or who are already overweight.

Canker Sores

Please recommend something good for canker sores.—(L. W.)
Answer—Touch each sore once daily with a mixture of equal parts tincture of iodine and glycerin. Rinse the mouth many times daily, before and after food, with a tepid solution of a teaspoonful of boric acid in a pint of boiled water.

The Law Against Lynching

Soon Congress will be called on to discuss the proposed law against lynching. Lynching represents the most repugnant stain on the spirit of the American people.

The contents of this bill are worthy of note. The first part makes any local official, who does not make any reasonable effort to prevent the lynching, guilty of felony. The second part makes every person guilty of felony who participates in any movement or demonstration which will result in the death of any person. The third part compels the County in which the lynching occurs to pay a fine of $10,000, this sum is to be paid to the family of the victim.

The long and varied study of how lynchings are conducted proves that none of these three measures will be effective. Without stopping to analyze the psychological nature which impels these deeds, it is sufficient to note that even in a civilized center, like New York, the cry of "lynch him" in spite of all the guarantee of the law, it is therefore necessary to change the spirit, and this must be done not by legislation but by education.—IL PROGRESSO (Italian, Rep.) NEW YORK CITY.

Political Education

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—School children of Alabama are to be taught practical citizenship so that they will grow up to be intelligent voters. This is the latest step taken in the campaign to educate the voting public.

Haskin

It is the women, mainly, who are insisting that the voter should play politics intelligently. They find that the public is sadly in need of education along political lines. For years, men have taken the vote casually.

Their knowledge of voting systems was based on such facts as they happened to pick up in conversation with other men and what they read in newspapers and magazines.

When 30,000,000 women were asked the ballot, a large percentage of them turned to the nearest man to find out all about it, and a good many were disappointed by the meager information they could get. So they stopped consulting amateur politicians and engaged experts to lecture to them.

The League of Women Voters, which sponsors the idea of an intelligent voting body, organized a course in citizenship at Chicago as an experiment. It was so successful, that the plan of having schools in citizenship spread all over the country. Already, we are told, the league has held literally thousands of courses. Pennsylvania alone has had 600 courses, or schools, as the league calls them, in the past year.

The schools of citizenship were instituted last year and a half ago, but of late a new impetus has been given to the project. Educators have begun to advocate that if schools train for citizenship there must be some practical courses given. Then, when the newly fledged voters are turned loose at an election, they will know what sort of power they hold.

Until women agitated this subject, the League of Women Voters claimed, the political education in the voting and political systems was not included in school courses. Such subjects as civics and political law were taught, but from an academic standpoint.

The league has succeeded in impressing the importance of courses in practical politics on a number of colleges. One professor of political economy at a state university has devised the plan for schools of citizenship, saying, "The women have done what the men should have done 100 years ago—educate voters."

A COLLEGE COURSE

Tale University held its first citizenship school last summer. The Alabama State University held an extension course in practical citizenship, and it proved so popular that a lecture course was given last fall, and two more are planned.

Alabama is to be the pioneer state to carry the system one step farther and introduce similar work into the grammar schools. The league regards this as a progressive move and believes other states will follow.

Not all of the courses are given in connection with colleges and schools, however. Baltimore and other cities have held citizenship school in different ways, generally around election time, when interest is keenest. Chicago held one of these courses last year.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What language did Pennsylvania, Dutch come from? E. B.
A. The idea of Pennsylvania Dutch is really High German. It is a fusion of Franconian, Alemannic and other German dialects, with an admixture of English varying from one per cent in rural districts to a large percentage in towns.

Q. What are the two most famous Egyptian statues in the world, and who are the sculptors? L. E. W.
A. A member of the National Museum staff says: Opinions differ. In my opinion the seated stone statue of Chefnen, the builder of the second pyramid of Gizeh, and the wooden standing statue of the so-called "Sphinx of Dahur" are the masterpieces of Egyptian sculpture. No Egyptian artist is known by name.

Q. What is the population of Cook County, Ill.? C. F. K.
A. The Census Bureau says Cook County, Ill., with a population of 2,053,917, has the largest population of any county in the United States.

Q. What is a man of straw? F. M. H.
A. A professional false witness in the English courts who gives straw testimony. They wear or are said to wear, straw in their shoes as a sign of their profession.

Q. Who was H. H. S. A. G.
A. H. H. S. was the pseudonym of Helen Maria Fisher who was Mrs. Hunt and afterward Mrs. Jackson. Hunt who painted the "Descent from the Cross?" T. F.

A. This has been a favorite theme with artists and there are at least six famous pictures of this name, by Sadoma, Gerard David, Cavazzola, Correggio, Titian, and Rubens.

Q. Can you give a recipe for Spanish ham? H. S.
A. Spanish hams are popular during the holiday season and at weddings. To three cups of flour, one-half teaspoonful salt, add enough milk to mix. Knead as you would bread, roll out and cut in disks about the size of a small plate. Fry one at a time in deep fat, and serve covered with syrup made of sugar and water.

Q. When was the first Encyclopedia Britannica published? T. McE.
A. The first edition of the Britannica was published in 1768.

Q. Is it true that more people die during fogs than when the weather is clear? F. O.
A. It is said that in London the deaths during foggy weeks always exceed the number during pleasant weather.

Q. What is a treemill? R. K.
A. A treemill is a long wooden pin used in fastening the planks of a vessel to the timbers or to each other.

Q. Did England or did she not recognize the South at the beginning of the Civil War? S. P. S.
A. England issued a proclamation of neutrality on May 13, 1861, by which action she recognized the Confederate States as belligerents. This action on the part of Great Britain was shortly afterwards followed by other European countries.

Q. Do many people emigrate from the United States to Canada? H. K. N.
A. An average of about 2,000 people emigrate from the United States to Canada every month.

Q. What will remove the yellow stain of cigarettes from fingers? V. G.
A. Lemon juice is the simplest thing to use on fingers stained from smoking cigarettes.

Q. How long ago were Paisley shawls made? F. N. K.
A. The manufacture of the famous Paisley shawls began early in the nineteenth century at Paisley, Scotland.

Q. What was the name recently given General Pershing by the Sioux Indians? D. Y. L.
A. The Sioux Indians have conferred the name of "Brave Eagle" upon General Pershing. The name was decided upon at a council of the Indians at Rosebud Reservation. The giving of an Indian name is considered by the Sioux as the highest honor that can be conferred. The name "Brave Eagle" in the Sioux language is Wanbli-Oshika.

We're here to start you off with a clean slate

"What's the noise?"

"Baby has just licked all the home work off Willie's slate."

That's how we'd like to start the men and young men of Appleton into 1922—with a clean, new Suit—and a big, warm Overcoat—both at a clean cut saving of $5 to $10 a garment.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

Lynch Law and States' Rights

Legislation to make lynching a crime punishable by the federal courts faces a stormy voyage through Congress. Sectional feeling has developed in the debates on the Dyer anti-lynching bill in the House which, reflected in the Southern press, deepens to intense bitterness. The South accuses the Northern Republicans of a deliberate attempt to stir up sectional and racial antagonisms for partisan reasons, by means of a measure which, Southern writers hold, will be utterly incapable of controlling lynching and which, as the LOUISVILLE COURIER JOURNAL (Dem.) puts it, surpasses "all previous attacks on states' rights." The North in reply charges that Southern opinion is raising a smoke screen of "states' rights" behind which to hide the obvious inability of state authority to stop mob violence, and of advancing a line of argument, "the inescapable logic of which," the SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN (Ind.) declares, "is a defense of lynching itself."

That "something should be done to check this evil is appallingly apparent" to the WASHINGTON STAR (Ind.), for "lynching has become one of the safest of pastimes." (And while not commenting directly on the proposed Congressional manner of checking it, the STAR contends that "the question cannot properly be characterized as either a national, sectional, or racial." It is certainly not a sectional question, as the record shows victims of lynchings north, south, east and west—it is certainly not a racial question, as the record shows both white and colored victims.) But the BALTIMORE SUN (Ind. Dem.) is not convinced that the present approach to the question is not a partisan one. The Dyer bill, it says, "is an effort to redeem the promise made in the Republican platform last year—it is a party measure, and the Republican platform plank was intended to keep the negro vote in line—it will be considered by many persons as a new Republican crusade against the white people of the South and as a partial revival of the spirit of the reconstruction era."

The SUN has evidently gauged accurately the temper in which the proposal is regarded in the South. Indeed, the LYNCHBURG NEWS (Dem.) declares that the bill avowedly contemplates "a revival of purpose and the expression of policy which were thoroughly characteristic of reconstruction legislation enacted in the years following the civil war. The same motive inspires, the same person in the wood pile explains." The provisions of the bill, it declares, "are a mob that accomplished a lynching."

"As a piece of drastic lawmaking this bill is a model," is the comment of the WINSTON-SALEM (C.) JOURNAL (Dem.) "state courts, we are given to understand, cannot be depended upon the deal harshly with lynchings. State judges and state prosecutors are too apt to sympathize with the mob." Lynching, declares the NORFOLK VIRGINIAN PILOT (Ind. Dem.) "is not a more proper subject for federal interference than is murder," for the national government to assume jurisdiction "would mean nothing other than an invasion of the police rights of the state."

AUGUSTA CHRONICLE (Dem.) asserts, indeed, the bill "is so clearly unconstitutional" that "it is difficult to believe in the sincerity of those who advocate it," and both the NEW YORK WORLD (Dem.) and the NASHVILLE BANNER (Ind.) speak of it as "something of a lynching process in itself," with the Constitution as its victim.

But however firmly may be opposed in state's rights, the KNOXVILLE JOURNAL AND TRIBUNE (Rep.) declares that lynching is not one of them, and "if the state fails or refuses to punish lynchings, it is up to the federal government to take action." Such a step would never have been taken, the SAVANNAH (Ga.) NEWS (Dem.) concedes, if some of the states had done "more about the problem than they have done," and if the bill is enacted "it will be because 'the national government is expected, by popular consent, to be more thorough in its attacks upon violators of its laws than the states are upon violators of their laws.' That theory, however, in the opinion of the RICHMOND NEWS LEADER (Ind. Dem.) can be discounted in view of the failure of the "strong arm of the federal government" to carry a burden in the enforcement of prohibition "of a character of that borne daily regular police." "Put any such laws as this on the statute books of the South," the NEWS LEADER continues, "the thought of many a rural community will be, 'If Uncle Sam thinks he can prevent a lynching let him try it, we won't.'"

It is just such argument, as this, however, that leads the DETROIT FREE PRESS (Ind.) to suggest that it "sounds unpleasantly like a threat that in case Congress passes the bill people of the South will take especial care upon violators of their laws, or the opponents of lynchings may not be depended upon to bring about any retirement of the disgraceful situation." The INDIANAPOLIS STAR (Ind. Rep.) regards it as "useless to look to properly repressive action by the legislature of the Southern states," and since they have "failed to end mob lawlessness that is a bleak desert to the nation." REPUBLICAN (Rep.) feels "it is time that the federal government intervened."

Maintaining that the power of the federal government to do so "is pretty clearly established," the NEW YORK TRIBUNE (Rep.) considers it "only common sense for Congress to take a hand in making lynching more hazardous and expensive for those who countenance it or take part in it."

Germany Won't Pay Punitive Charges

Berlin.—The KREUZ ZEITUNG, powerful organ of the Catholic center party, declares Germany's readiness for negotiations in loyal fashion, but insists that first there must be a revision of the reparations claims so as to eliminate the pensions payments and other "punitive" charges. It says: "We must turn our attention principally to purifying the world atmosphere which has been poisoned by adverse propaganda. We must claim our rights without wavering, and we must work methodically to obtain the revision of the Versailles treaty." "In order to do this we must have a settled program which should be as follows: 'Germany recognizes her duty of collaborating to the utmost limit of her power in the reconstruction of Europe and in the recovery of the world's economic wealth. Since we are defeated we mean sincerely to do our part in the reconstruction of the world's economy, and in the recovery of the French devastated regions in conformity with the real needs of the two peoples, and not in the spirit of the disastrous treaty of Versailles.'"

Clubs and Parties

New Year Watch Party

The Keep Climbing club of the Baptist church will entertain members and friends of the congregation at a New Year's watch party at the church from 9 to 12 o'clock Saturday evening. A series of shadowgraphs will be one of the entertainments of the evening and will include "Little Bo Peep's Party," "George Washington's Little Hatchet," "The Yarn of the Nancy Bell," and "A Serious Operation." All the members who cannot remain for the entire evening are expected to attend for a short time. As the New Year is ushered in, Rev. A. J. McMillan will conduct a short prayer service.

NEW 11-CENT STAMP IS TO BE ISSUED IN U. S.

The 6-cent international reply stamp will be discontinued after Jan. 1, and in its place will be an 11-cent stamp, according to a ruling from the federal postoffice department. These stamps are bought at postoffices in all countries in the postal union and can be sent to foreign countries where they are exchanged by the receiver for postage stamps and are to be used to prepay postage on letters only. The number of stamps sold or exchanged by any one person is limited to 10 a day.

This service is invaluable to those who have friends in other countries that are unable to write letters because of their inability to buy postage stamps, said Postmaster Gustave Keller. They are also used in business transactions where a reply is requested from commercial firms. It was through the stamps the famous "financier," Poni, was supposed to make the profits by which he could afford to pay his clients large dividends. Mr. Keller said, but it was discovered that this was not the case and that Poni used the idea of exchange only to get capitalists interested enough to invest their money.

DANCING CLASS TO GIVE EXHIBITION

The dancing classes of Miss Marie McCloskey and F. A. McCloskey will give an exhibition in Odd Fellow hall at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Invitations have been sent to parents of members of the classes and their friends. The first two numbers on the program will be exhibitions of bar work and ball room exercises by all the classes.

Other numbers on the program include a semi-character dance known as "Southern Sweethearts" by the Misses Rosalind Harbeck and Doris Hoffman, a toe dance, "Piquant Polka" by Dolly Chamberlain; "Apple Blossoms," Hannah Rosenthal; "Sailors Hornpipe," Helen Gilman; "Evening," Miss Kerl; Japanese Parasol, Gretchen Sensesbrenner; Neenah; "Dance of the Debutantes," a semi-character dance, Marie McCloskey and Helen Veyenbach, Kaukauna; "Audubon," a toe dance, Rosalind Harbeck, Doris Hoffman and Dolly Chamberlain; "Way of Old Pekin," Donna Marie Hall; "French Baby," Rosemary Donaldson, Kaukauna; "Marguerites," Gretchen Sensesbrenner; "Highland Fling," Marie McCloskey; Spanish dance, Donna Marie Hall; exhibition dance, "Spring," Hannah Rosenthal.

Exclusive Victrola Dealer

Hear the Victrola Demonstrated by people whose interest is centered in giving you the best, because they know it is the best after years of experience.

There is really only one Victrola. No other instrument equals it. A few records will prove this to you. Come in and let us play them for you. If you cannot come in person, fill out and mail the coupon below. Send it in today.

Keep Children Home

Children nowadays look elsewhere for entertainment. You can keep them at home with a Victrola. Mothers everywhere find it invaluable. Evening concerts and dances fill the youthful need of companionship. Children are glad to invite their friends to their homes when they have a Victrola. They know it means an evening of joy.

Your Favorite Selection

The Victrola will play for you the music you love. Half forgotten strains of former years are preserved by the Victrola records. Push back the years! Put on one of Evan Williams' moving songs. The cares of the day are swept away in the mellow music of the Victrola.

Test It at Home

With a choice selection of records you will be delighted with a Victrola. When you play a record, note how distinctly and evenly the tone is reproduced. It is as if the artist himself stood before you. Actually, you can hardly distinguish between the original performance and the reproduction. Even the most difficult piano tones are played. The richly sonorous notes of the piano are repeated clearly.

The Soaring High C

Again, when you play vocal records, watch for the high notes. The soprano voice is one of the most difficult to reproduce. The Victrola does it correctly. The rare, soaring high C note is imprisoned in the Victrola records. The music is just as unflawed as when it floated upwards from the throat of the singer. These are but two of the tests—the most difficult ones, however. In many other ways the Victrola, in less than a half dozen performances, will proclaim its musical quality.

Take Advantage Now

Do not put your decision off any longer. Come in just as soon as you can. Your choice will be made under ideal conditions. Or, if you wish, let us send you a Victrola to your home.

TWINE PLANT HAS BUSINESS BOOM

Madison—More men and more machinery, to make twine at the state penitentiary, Waupun, Wis.

There isn't any such want as that one today, but there might be. The twine output for the year of 1922 at the state penitentiary has been oversold already by more than 500,000 pounds, Henry Towne, former warden at Waupun and present member of the state board of control, told the Daily Press.

The full production of the plant on present machinery and personnel is five million pounds a year and orders have already been received for five and a half million pounds. The "extra" however, will probably be taken care of by cancellations of orders later in the year, Mr. Towne said.

If the demand becomes more acute, double shifts may be worked at the twine plant, Towne intimated.

Prices for the 1922 output will be set in February, he said.

Ball Park Has Been Flooded and Soon Will be in Use—Many at Funeral

Kaukauna—Kaukauna's much-needed skating rink is well on its way toward reality on the site selected at the ball park. The space has been cleared of snow and the rink has been flooded.

The rink will be composed of two parts, an outside ring for skating, and an inside circle for hockey games and fancy skating. Younger people of the city are waiting for the announcement that the rink is ready for use.

MERRICK FUNERAL

People from out of town who attended the funeral of John Merrick, Sr., Tuesday afternoon included: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Merrick, Mr. and Mrs. George Shafer, Mrs. Perke, Sherwood; Mr. and Mrs. William Merrick, Canby, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Merrick, Herman, Poppenburg, Neenah; Peter Merrick, Drake, N.D.; Mrs. Anna Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brockman, Mrs. Mary Bunkis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brockman, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Merrick, Marinette; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brockman, Osborn; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brockman, Kimberly; Fred and Nick Steenecker, Grand Chute; Mr. and Mrs. William Denu, Woodville, Mrs. Erdman, Waukegan.

Mrs. Henry Coenen of Dundas, entertained several friends and relatives at dinner at her home Tuesday evening. The evening was spent in playing cards. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. H. Van Abel and Mrs. Allie Peters. Among those from this city who attended were Mrs. Gertrude Eimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bese, Mrs. H. Van Abel, Mrs. George Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eimmerman and son Cyril.

Kaukauna Loyal order of Moose will give its annual hard times dance Tuesday evening, Jan. 3, at the auditorium. Music will be furnished by Kaukauna's new Electric City orchestra. A concert will be rendered during intermission by the Moose Jass entertainers. Everything about the dance will conform to the idea of "hard times." A large force of "coops" has been secured to watch the dancers and fine those wearing fine clothes or jewelry.

Mulford Athletic club is planning a dance to be given Jan. 6 in Eagle hall. Music will be furnished by the Electric City orchestra.

WORKMAN HURT AT KAUKAUNA SHOPS

Hand is Cut While Trying to Open Freight Car Door—Add Two Books

Kaukauna—An attempt to open a railroad car door which was frozen shut, resulted in the injury of Ferdinand Gorzaltz's hand Wednesday morning in the yards at the railroad shops. Several men were trying to pull the door open with a hook when it slipped and cut Mr. Gorzaltz's hand. Mr. Gorzaltz will be unable to work for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Starke were surprised by a number of friends at their home Monday evening in honor of their fourteenth wedding anniversary. Games and music furnished entertainment. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock to 17 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Seward of Milwaukee and Mrs. Mary Longstad of Oshkosh, were out of town guests.

A regular meeting of the Young Peoples society of Trinity Lutheran church was held Wednesday evening in the church school. Regular business was disposed of and a social meeting followed.

BEAUTY SHOPS MUST PAY OR BE CLOSED BY STATE

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—Some 80 beauty parlor shops in the state will be closed after the first of the year unless licenses are renewed before Jan. 1. Managers will be held responsible if they employ operators who have not renewed their licenses. Renewal notices were sent to all managers on Nov. 1, but only 170 have thus far complied with the provision regarding renewal. The law is administered by the state board of health.

POLICE CALLED TO KEEP PEACE DURING FUNERAL

Sheboygan—Police were called upon to furnish protection and keep order at the funeral services of George Doudonis, who died suddenly Sunday night while dancing at a Lithuanian Christmas party. Difficulties which led to the request for protection arose at the home of the deceased while the body lay in state. One faction desired singing at the services and another praying. A near riot followed.

Harry Leppla was unanimously reelected as member of the board of trustees. Sunday school officers elected were: Samuel Mevins, superintendent; Harry Schroeder, vice superintendent; Edward Mevins, secretary; Edwin Much, treasurer. The Sunday school board will meet at a later date to make new plans and appoint teachers and committees for the coming year.

THEY LET HIM SLEEP
H. T. Straygne, Gainesville, Ga., R. R. No. 3, was unable to sleep all night without getting up. "Sometimes only a few minutes after going to bed, I would have to get up, and I tried everything I heard of for the trouble. Finally I tried Foley Kidney Pills and after taking one bottle I believe I am entirely cured, and I sleep soundly all night." Foley Kidney Pills tone up weak, sluggish kidneys, rid the body of poisons, give appetite, energy and refreshing sleep.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "Fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup. adv.

TWO COWS PRODUCE OVER 60 POUNDS OF FAT IN THIRTY DAYS

Cows in Dale-Hortonville Testing Association Make Splendid Records

Two grade Holsteins, one owned by Lyle Ray and the other by Frank Griswold, made the December production report of the Dale and Hortonville Cow Testing association an excellent one. Both animals were above the 50-pound mark for butterfat, according to the report of Orin A. Millanek, official tester.

Mr. Ray's animal gave 1,355 pounds of milk testing 4.6 per cent fat and 62.8 pounds of butterfat. The Griswold cow gave 1,339 pounds of milk testing 4.4 per cent equivalent to 61 pounds of butterfat.

Twenty-eight cows, almost all grade Holsteins, produced 40 pounds or more of butterfat, during the 30-day test. Seven were above the 50-pound mark. This month's honor roll for 40 pound butterfat production or more includes:

PRICE OF CABBAGE MOUNTING STEADILY

Farmers who stored their cabbage last fall are commencing to unload and are getting nearly double the price they were then offered for them. Forty dollars a ton is said to be the prevailing price.

The crop last fall was not up to the average, but a good portion of it was stored and promises to yield better financial returns than any crop the farmers have grown in several years. Quite a number have all the way from 75 to 100 tons in cold storage which, it is said, will nearly pay for the land on which the crop was raised.

Farmers who stored their potato crop also are expecting good returns and the indications are their expectations will be realized as there is very little prospect of prices going down.

CHARGES AGAINST FONDY CHIEF ARE DISMISSED

Fond du Lac—The police and fire commission by unanimous vote exon. charges of neglect of duty and inefficiency preferred by Mayor Hantze. Public hearing of the charges was held all day Tuesday, the mayor being represented by City Attorney Lurvey and the police chief by Attorney R. L. Moore. It took the commission less than an hour after conclusion of testimony to decide that the charges were not sustained.

"HOBBY" SHOW IS INTERESTING BOYS

Prizes Will be Awarded Youngsters Who Have Best Knowledge of Hobbies

That interest shown in the coming "hobby show" which will be held Monday, Jan. 2 in the boys department of the Y. M. C. A., is manifesting high interest by the large number of entries that are being made. The show will be in conjunction with the New Year program at the Y. M. C. A. from 3:30 to 5:30 Monday afternoon and from 7 o'clock until 9 o'clock in the evening.

Up to date there have been entries of wireless sets, aeroplanes, photography collections, postcard collections, butterflies, stuffed birds, birds' nests, bird eggs, flowers, leaves, Indian relics, newspapers, stamps, coins, fancy poultry, blooded dogs, rabbits and guinea pigs.

Prizes will be awarded to the boys excelling in their particular hobbies. Judgement will be passed on the boy's general knowledge of his hobby, on the size of his collection, and upon the neatness of arrangement. All boys will be on hand while the show is in progress to explain to those who inquire, about his particular interest.

Prize prizes have been donated and will be presented to the winners at the close of the show. The prizes and the donors are:

A pair of Northland skis donated by the Northland Ski company, of St. Paul, Minn.; pair of skis, Martin Strand, New Richmond, Wis.; tennis racket, the Alex Taylor Sporting Goods company, New York City; hunting knife, Marble Arms and Tool company, Gladstone, Mich.; Six baseball games, Champion Amusement company, Cincinnati, Ohio; billiard cue, Albert Pick and company, Chicago, Ill.; track pants, James A. Richard company, Dayton, Ohio; fountain pen, Parker Fountain Pen company; basketball shoes, converse rubber company, Chicago, Ill.; gymnasium shoes, Bevan Falls Rubber Shoe company, Bevan Falls, Conn.

Help the Kidneys Fight That Cold

Colds and grip cause thousands of cases of kidney trouble. In any germ disease the system becomes filled with poisons which the kidneys must filter off. All too often this extra burden weakens the kidneys. Then you have constant backache, headaches and dizziness; you lack ambition, feel dull, nervous and depressed. Don't ignore these warnings! Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Home folks recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

An Appleton Case
Mrs. Theo. H. Lembeck, 827 Meade St., says: "I was annoyed with kidney weakness and suffered with dull nagging backaches and pains across my back. I felt tired and languid mornings and had no strength or energy. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. They relieved me of the kidney annoyances and removed the backaches and pains."

If You Would Be In The Mode, Girls, Don't Let Anyone 'Bob' Your Hair

Hairdressers and Barbers are Agreed That Fad is Losing Popularity—Girls Save Shorn Tresses Against Future Need.

"Why don't men like bobbed hair?" asked the black haired little sub deb through her hair pins as she jabbed frantically at the short ends of her hair which just would not stay in place. "It was just last Christmas when my hair was so pretty and it stood out all over my head like Nazi moccasins and I liked it, but Jack raved about it from the time I got off the train until I went back to school. He likes it better this way, but if he had to do it twice a day, he wouldn't be so keen about it."

"And now the hairdressers have made it impossible for me to feel justified in having it cut again. They say that nobody who wants to look really smart will wear her hair cut short. They have all sorts of ways of fixing it in straight back from the forehead modes with soft folds over the ears and no more ear puffs. Then there is that bobbed effect like I try to get on mine, but it is such a nuisance and I always have to wear a hair net. Oh dear, I wish they would let us be sensible and wear our hair short and not talk so much about us."

SUB DEB WAS RIGHT
And it is true what the sub deb says about hair dressers, for they all say that they would not advise anyone to have her hair cut short now unless her hair kept falling out and was too thin to do anything with. The soft simple coiffures at the back of the neck, the ever popular psycho knot and the large graceful puffs are being worn a great deal. The extreme style demands that the hair be sleeked back from the forehead to give a smooth and shiny appearance, but it is only the young and very pretty women who can stand such trying coiffures.

"We keep right on bobbing hair," said one prominent barber, "but we have very few new ones. The girls who have bobbed hair and who like to wear it that way keep right on having it cut. Cutting is very good for the hair if the girls do not ruin it by curling it with an iron. Yes, they always take their hair with them so that they can have switches made when they start to let it grow again."

LOSING POPULARITY
"No women with nice heads of hair are having it cut these days," said another barber. "Hair bobbing as a fad seems to be going out but many women with thin hair keep on having it cut. Say, some of those women between 30 and 40 years old who used to come in and have their hair cut made me smile. They looked worse after it was cut than before and that was bad enough. Bobbed hair for young girls isn't bad looking but when a woman gets to be 30, it's time she did her hair up."

And while they were talking, the hair dressers and the barbers, they told many interesting stories about girls who had their hair bobbed. One college girl came into a barber shop one day and had her hair cut and then was afraid to go back to the dormitory. Another came in with her hair all uneven and said that her room mate had cut it off on one side the night before, and now she had to have all of it cut. She kept wiping away the tears as they cut it. One young married woman claims that her husband does not want her to let her hair grow long again.

And all the girls have their shorn locks wrapped carefully in paper to take home, probably for future use.

NEENAH SCOUTS ARE GETTING STARTED AGAIN

It was reported sometime ago that the Neenah Boy Scout troop had disbanded and that the boys sought admission to the local council. Since then the troop has been reorganized and they will continue to carry on the work of the scouts in their own city. A next executive has been engaged and he will carry on a campaign for more members.

PASSENGER TRAINS MAY BE TAKEN OFF

Rumors are afloat in railroad circles that some of the principal passenger trains running through Appleton are to be temporarily removed early in the new year. Just what trains will be affected has not been announced, but it is said the roads are planning a further curtailment of expenses.

Black locals, like this, are sold at 25¢ per line in place of the old form box locals.

Weak Kidneys and Bladder MADE STRONG

Thousands die every year from weak kidneys and bladder who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life. If you're subject to weak spells, dizziness, headache, lame back, lack of appetite, puffy eyes, specks, disturbed sleep, cloudy urine, rheumatism, annoying bladder troubles, clammy feet or any other tendency of Bright's disease, Diabetes or Gravel, recognize them as danger signals, warning you. Don't neglect them, but get Dr. Carey's Marsh-Root Prescription No. 777 (Liquid Tablets) at Schlitz Bros. Co. who with every other good druggist has been authorized to return purchase price on two bottles to all who state they are not benefited.

WANT EQUITY MEN TO HELP PAY DEBT

An assessment of $2 each will be placed upon members of the Outagamie County Equity society to liquidate the debts of the state organization as the result of a resolution passed at a meeting of the board of directors at Madison. The action was unanimous and it is said that if the members will meet the assessment, sufficient funds will be available to meet all of the needs of the state society. The time limit for the paying of the assessments is Feb. 8 when a drive for membership will be started.

According to figures submitted at a recent meeting of directors there was a decrease of $33,000 in the expenditures as compared with 1920.

ONEIDA FARMERS PLAN POTATO WAREHOUSE

Further plans for the creation of a shipping potato warehouse and organization of a potato growers association will be made at a meeting of potato growers of Oneida Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 3, in Metzger's hall, Oneida. Farmers plan to plant a large acreage in potatoes in and around Oneida next spring.

HILL WINS GREAT WRESTLING MATCH FROM SANDERS

STATE CHAMPION COMES BACK AFTER LOSING ONE FALL

Fans Thoroughly Excited by One of Best Matches of Season

George Hill still is the heavyweight wrestling champion of Wisconsin. He successfully defended his title against the efforts of Elmer Sanders, Ashland, to wrest it from him in a wonderful match in Armory G Wednesday night. Hill won two out of three falls, losing the first to Sanders in 4 minutes and 20 seconds when the Ashland man caught him in a double wristlock. The second fall went to Hill in 20 minutes and 15 seconds on a hammerlock and the third also went to the local man in 35 minutes and 15 seconds with a toe and body hold.

There was more action in this bout than in any seen here in a long time, despite the fact that the matches with Weaver and Rogers were excellent. Sanders forced the wrestling in the first fall, diving into Hill from all angles, but he was tired when the men returned to the effects of the headlocks which Hill clamped on him.

SANDERS WAS TIRED
The last fall became rather rough but it was interesting. As the bout reached the half hour mark Sanders began to slow up and it became only a question of time when he would go down.

Sanders was partial to a jackknife and bar arm hold to down Hill. He was in with good effect several times. Once he caught Hill in a body scissors which caused the local man to wince and it looked like curtains for him but he hung on grimly and finally forced Sanders to let go.

Hill made numerous attempts to clamp on the hammerlock and succeeded several times but only once was he able to hold long enough to win a fall. About every hold in the book was used by the grapplers in their hour and thirteen minutes on the mat.

HILL CONCEDES FALL
Hill lost the first fall in dramatic fashion. Both men had been sent to the center of the mat after their hands rolled through the ropes again and again. Sanders kept on top of Hill, apparently with the intention of clamping on a head seissors and in a second caught Hill in a double wristlock. Hill immediately conceded the fall to save himself from injury.

The local man forced the fighting in the second bout. He was on top of Sanders much of the time, driving him around the ring and catching him in numerous headlocks, finally weakening him such an extent that he felt an easy victim to the hammerlock.

Fifteen minutes' rest was given the grapplers between bouts and the Ashland man seemed to be much refreshed, going after Hill in a much more savage fashion. For the first few minutes he was the aggressor but the pace began to tell on him and he slowed up. Hill was in perfect condition, however, and kept right after Sanders, catching him in hammerlocks, toeholds and body holds continuously. Finally he squeezed him down with a body hold and then grabbed his foe for good measure, pinning Sanders' shoulders to the mat.

Bill Tappert was awarded the decision by Referee Rhodes over Young Curtis, the West End Bear Cat, at the end of the 45-minute semi-final. Neither man won a fall but Tappert was given the verdict because of his aggressiveness. Both men tried hard and showed considerable strength and wrestling skill.

Coast Team Must Watch These Stars

By Billy Evans

What chance has Washington and Jefferson against California?

Football enthusiasts east and west are asking that question. Never was there greater interest in an intercollegiate game.

These two great teams are scheduled to meet at Pasadena, Cal., on Jan. 2. The game will be the feature event of the Tournament of Roses.

California has a great team. That is an admitted fact. It is said to be an even better team than the one that overhauled Ohio State a year ago by a 28 to 0 score.

Western football fans who saw the Ohio State eleven of 1920 in action, know that it was a formidable aggregation. That team was easy for California. If the 1921 eleven is stronger, it is easy to imagine the task that confronts W. & J.

I will be very much disappointed unless W. & J. makes a much better showing than did Ohio State. I wish that Coach Neale might have had some assistance from Coach Rockne of Notre Dame. It would have helped the open game of the eastern team, and it is open play that must be used against California.

No team, east or west, had as much deception about its forward passing as did Notre Dame.

Washington and Jefferson is one of the three eleven in the east that escaped defeat. Cornell and Lafayette being the other two. California in selecting Washington and Jefferson picked an opponent that compares well with any of the eastern eleven.

W. & J. HAS VERSATILITY
Washington and Jefferson plays the open game well and prefers it, but W. & J. has versatility as well. Take their last game—against University of Detroit.

W. & J. has been well scouted by Detroit and the scouts reported in detail upon the W. & J. open game, particularly the forward passing attack. When W. & J. began its attack against Detroit, the Presidents discovered that the Detroit eleven had a defense for it. Tackles and guards were in front; and the remainder of the eleven spread.

It was an effective defense. W. & J. knew it. So, instead of going to the open game, W. & J. smashed the line. Detroit, afraid of the forward pass attack, did not concentrate its defense and failed to pull up the secondaries.

While Detroit did succeed in keeping W. & J. from making touchdowns by line smashing, the consistent gains enabled W. & J. to keep the ball almost constantly, and a team that cannot get possession of the ball cannot make touchdowns.

Although not particularly a brilliant line, the W. & J. line is smart. It knows football. No team ever blocked better and few tackled harder than W. & J. Few lines charge faster. The W. & J. line has lift and lines need lift.

Michigan had one of the best defensive lines in the country this year, but a poor line offensively because the Michigan linemen lacked lift, that is, they did not lift the opposing linemen out of the play as linemen should. Vick was the only exception at Michigan.

STEIN IS STAR PLAYER

Beauty of W. & J. is that eleven football players know how to play and get into every play. Any team with eleven men getting into every play is a winning football team.

In Stein, their captain and named by Walter Camp as a tackle on his first eleven this year, the Presidents have one of the greatest players in years.

Stein played center and then tackle and then he shifted to end. He is an end on defense, a halfback, quarterback or fullback on offense. He calls all the signals and directs the attack. When Stein is not carrying the ball, he is smashing a path for the runner. Big and powerful and fast. Smart. A real footballer who works for the team. Deadly tackler. A streak under a punt. If he plays end at Pasadena he will give Muller a hard run for end honors on the day. California will know it has been in a football game after its clash with Washington and Jefferson.

24 TEAMS ENGAGE IN FIRST GAMES OF NEWSBOYS LEAGUE

Interesting Basketball Games are Played Wednesday in Two Gymnasiums

The Appleton Boys Athletic federation basketball season opened Wednesday morning on the high school and Y. M. C. A. gymnasium floors. The "D" and "C" divisions played at the Y. M. C. A. while the "B" division played its games on the high school floor. Howard P. Buck and Lee Laughlin officiated at the games played at the high school and R. H. Starkey and Burton Manner supervised contests at the Y. M. C. A. Twenty-four teams, including 124 boys participated in the opening games.

The results of Wednesday's games follow:

Division "D"
(Games played at Y. M. C. A.)
Franklin school Sixth grade 2, Lincoln Stars 0 (forfeit); First ward Bright Spots 8, First ward Speed Boys 1; First ward Juniors 7, First ward Brownies 6.

Division "B"
(Games played at the high school)
First ward, Eight grade 16, Lincoln school Purples 1; Lincoln school Whites 20, Lincoln school Blues 2; Columbus school Purples 22, Lincoln school Reds 2; Lincoln school Oranges 9, Boy Scout Troop 3, Indians 12.

Division "C"
(Games played at the Y. M. C. A.)

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM WILL PLAY ALUMNI

Former Stars Meet High Team in Curtain Raiser to Appleton-Green Bay Game

Appleton high school basketball team will get into action for the first time this year Thursday night when it tackles a team of graduates as a curtain raiser to the Appleton-Green Bay game in Armory G. The first game is to start at 7:45.

The alumni team will be made up largely of former all-state men. Albrecht will start at center and other members will include Donald Bushey, Phil Jacobson, Gerhard Kubitz, John Showalter and Bloomer. These men rank among the best basketball players ever turned out by Appleton high school.

George Dame has announced that Kubitz and Taylor will play guard positions in the game with Green Bay. Thompson will be used at center, and Ritchie and Stark as forwards.

The invasion of eastern collegiate basketball teams into the middle west cannot be termed a howling success. Colgate has been handed a couple of trimmings by the little fellows in Nebraska while Yale has bumped into a pair of upsets while enroute through Ohio. What the Buckeyes did to the Blue was a shame and even Western Reserve played rings around Old Eli. Evidently, the Bulldogs isn't as ferocious as in days of old.

Speaking of basketball, Marquette hasn't been having the smoothest kind of sailing on the southern trip. The Milwaukee Catholics ran into a couple of snags which were too much for the Red Dunn-Duford passing combination. In the last two games Marquette appears to have perked up a bit as they came out with a double win. The Cream City collegians have the making of a corking good quintet as the squad is blessed with a raft of good players.

Hippo Vaughn either has a mighty good press agent or else he is really trying to get back in the good graces of organized baseball. Vaughn took his departure from the Cub team last season without leaving any farewell note and the next thing heard of him, he was landing "on over for the Detroit Fairies. Naturally, Judge Landis put the ban on him and he is now a prominent member of the ineligible list. Hippo went good for the Fairies and it is said that the Chicago club owners are dead anxious to get the big hurler back again. And in the meantime, Vaughn breaks into print with great regularity.

Fred Fulton is trailing Jack Dempsey in search of another scrap with the champion. It is hard to figure where some of these big fellows think they have got a chance with the title holder. Probably, it won't be long before Battling Levinsky and Sam Langford throw their hats in the ring and demand a fight with Dempsey. Bring on Georges Carpentier.

Mueller Is Greatest End In History Of Football

"Red" Muller, end on this year's All-American eleven by Walter Camp, is the superman of western football. He is the first player produced on the coast for whom football adherents out there claim supreme honors.

Andy Smith is coach of the California eleven. Smith knows football. Used to play it at Pennsylvania. Knows eastern and western style.

Smith says Muller is the greatest end the game has produced. He has never seen one near his equal.

Smith has seen quite a few great eastern ends.

Many people say Frank Hinkley, Yale's shadowy end, who never sealed more than 150 pounds during his playing career in the days of guards and tackles back, flying wedges and mass plays, was the greatest player of all time, all positions considered. Smith says Muller is better.

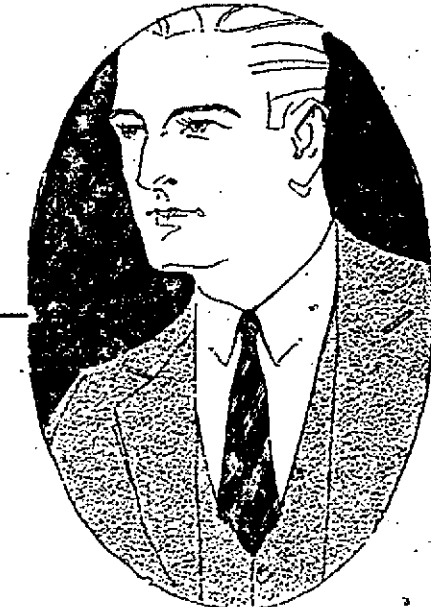

Muller stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 190. At the intercollegiate games in the Harvard Stadium last June, Muller tied with Dick Landon of Yale, intercollegiate high jump champion, and then won the playoff.

Smith says that if one would throw a football into a crowd of 10 football players, Muller among them, it would be a 1 to 2 shot that Muller would get the ball. Muller would make the catch once out of every three times, at least.

Muller leaps high for a ball or he dives for one. He plucks them out of the air or catches them just off the ground. He has never muffed a punt that he got his hands on.

Muller consistently can throw a football 60 yards forward passing. There are many players who cannot catch his forward passes, while there are few forward passes that Muller cannot catch. He is more valuable, therefore, on the receiving end and that is why he plays end instead of back.

Muller broke a small bone in his foot early in the season. He recovered sufficiently to play in the last three games of the season. He did not play much in any of the three, but he was not needed. He has fully recovered and will be California's hope in the coming game.

HOCKEY BECOMING POPULAR SPORT

Championship of America Will be Decided by Series of Games

Hockey as the premier winter sport is becoming more popular than ever. The United States Amateur Hockey Association, formerly affiliated with the International Skating Union, but which is now the sole controlling body of ice hockey in the United States, is doing good work in promoting and organizing the sport on the plane which it should really occupy.

Last season, for the first time in the history of the United States, a hockey championship was decided, the Cleveland team capturing the honor.

This year's plan of the U. S. A. H. A. for its championship games call for the same number of groups as last year.

Group 1, or eastern, is composed of two Boston teams, St. Nicholas of New York and Quaker City of Philadelphia.

Group 2 is composed of Pittsburgh, St. Paul, Cleveland and Duluth.

Group 3, of Eveleth, Houghton, Sault Ste. Marie and Calumet, Mich.

Each group decides its own championship, then the three winners meet for the national championship. Should an intercollegiate championship be decided, that team is eligible to enter for the national championship. This ruling went into effect at the last annual meeting of the U. S. A. H. A.

DE PERE TEAM IS A FIGHTING CREW

Appleton high school basketball team will not have easy picking when it takes on De Pere in the first game of the season, Jan. 6, at De Pere. This was proved when De Pere held Green Bay high school to a 12 to 10 win after playing two overtime periods a few nights ago.

De Pere was one point in the lead at halftime but managed to keep the count when the final whistle blew. No scores were made in the first overtime period but the Purple edged a ringer in the second period and clinched the game.

Vincent's high school basketball team is working out during their vacation in order to keep on edge for the opening of the season next week.

GREEN BAY MAN HAS STRING OF WRESTLERS

Among the wrestling fans at the Hill-Sanders bout in Armory G Wednesday evening was Tom Condon, wrestling instructor of Green Bay, who has a string of wrestlers under his tutelage. Among his proteges is Carl Zoll who, Mr. Condon says, now is in training. Zoll is willing to meet either Hill or Sanders or any other big

Today's Sport Angle

Star ball players are a mighty scarce article. No better proof of this fact could be offered, than the recent deals put over by Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants.

McGraw paid $75,000 in real money for an untried minor leaguer, who will not be delivered until 1923. Conservatively, he paid $100,000 for Heinie Groh, a player he once traded and who is now 34 years of age.

However, the real "David Harum" of the last ten years has been Harry Frazee. Since acquiring the Boston Red Sox, Frazee has really sold more players than all the other American League clubs put together.

It would be possible to form a team from the Boston players sold in the last few years, who would be able to go out and give any team a run for the American League pennant. Speaker was disposed of to Cleveland just before Frazee took charge.

Here is a team that could be made up of former Bostonians: Catchers—Schang and Nunamaker. Pitchers—Mays, Hoyt, Scott, Bush, Leonard, Jones and Harper.

Infield—McInnis, first base; McNally, second base; Scott, shortstop, and Gardner, third base.

Outfield—Ruth, Speaker, Hooper, Wood and Shorten.

Of these players, most of them have gone to New York and Cleveland. Nine players who will be found in the New York lineup next season, will have at some time wore a Boston uniform. Five will be with Cleveland, Detroit has Leonard, Chicago, Hooper, and St. Louis Shorten.

Thus, it is plain to see that the Boston players who have been disposed of in recent years, would make a bang up team. No wonder the Boston fans are sore.—B. E.

FONDY CALLS OFF BASKET GAME WITH APPLETON QUINT

Green Bay Comes Here Tonight With Noted Stars in Its Lineup

A last minute mix-up over rental of the basketball auditorium in Fond du Lac made it necessary to call of the game between Appleton and Fond du Lac in the latter city Wednesday night. The game now will be played Friday evening in the Fountain city.

The unexpected change in plans gives Manager Dame's men another day of rest before sailing into the rejuvenated Green Bay quint in Armory G tonight. It is reported from the Bay that two members of the famous Bright Spots team of Milwaukee have been engaged for tonight's game.

The curtain raiser, which begins at 7:45, will send the high school team against a combination of high school graduates, nearly of them winners of All-State positions in their high school days.

man, Mr. Gordon says. He is rounding into the best possible condition. The Green Bay instructor also has two middleweights in his stable, whom he wishes to match with Bill Tappert of Appleton. Their names are Frank DeVoske and Joe Revert. Other boys under his care are Nick Walker and Young Church, two 125 pound grapplers who are willing to meet any of 120 or 135 pounds.

No more box locals after Dec. 31st. Black locals accomplish the same result at 25c per line.

GEORGES GONE BACK, M'AULIFFE AVERS

French Champion Training Listlessly—Seriously Hurt by Dempsey

London—Georges Carpentier has gone back—way back. "I've seen him working out for his bout with George Cook, Australian champion, to be held here January 12 and he doesn't look good."

The ones who saw the naughty, magnificent Carpentier strutting around Manhattan last summer would never recognize the meek and humbled Georges.

He looks underweight. His complexion is sallow and pale and his boxing is listless, at times bored. It may be that he thinks Cook is a soft one. But any boxer who had such a lesson in the danger of overconfidence that he had with Dempsey should never fall into the same trap again.

I think Dempsey did hurt him and hurt him badly. I can best give my opinion by using a shop phrase that all boxers and trainers will understand—he's gone inside.

FAST GREEN BAY FIVE IS LOOKING FOR GAMES

The Gordon Bent basketball team of Green Bay is desirous of arranging games with some of the strongest teams in the state. All games will be played away from Green Bay. Chestnut-ave, Green Bay.

Bright Spots Win Milwaukee—The Milwaukee Bright Spots basketball team defeated the Chicago National quintet here Wednesday night, 30 to 27.

FEAR MONEY LURE IN COLLEGE SPORTS

Desire for Strong Teams Result in Shady Attempts to Get Stars

New York—Menace of "big money" in intercollegiate sports will be pointed out Thursday at the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

Some of the athletic heads gathered here for the session including Dr. G. L. Meylan of Columbia and Dr. Edgar Fauver of Wesleyan have gone so far as to predict a scrapping of intercollegiate competition if the commercial "evil" is not overcome. They point out that the lure of the immense gate receipts and the necessity for funds to keep up an elaborate athletic system will result in attempts to get winning teams at any price and by any method.

Practically all of the delegates, including representatives of nearly every big university in the country, agree that something should be done to curb proselytizing but they do not regard the menace as being acute.

It was pointed out that the evils hardly could be legislated away but that they can be corrected by strict individual policies at each university against anything that does not measure up to high class ethics of sports.

BEARS LOOKING FOR FIERCE STRUGGLE

Los Angeles—When the last whistle blows next Monday afternoon, the Pacific coast will finally realize what the California varsity knows now—that Washington and Jefferson has twice as good a football team as Ohio State had last year.

This was the answer of Coach Andy Smith Thursday to rumors that his Bears were suffering from the worst case of overconfidence known in the history of the east-west football classic.

Smith got excited enough over the report to tell his real opinion on the coming struggle.

"This continued harping on the belief that the Presidents will be a setup for my team is putting us in a false light before the football world," he said. "As might be imagined, I investigated Washington and Jefferson's record from A to Z and I discovered some startling facts.

"Washington and Jefferson can use the forward pass, not so well as Ohio State perhaps, but good enough to have won two of its games by the use of passes.

"I am willing to make this prediction on next Monday afternoon's game—the score will be one of the lowest in the history of the east-west classic.

Gratitude of the five associated charities for the splendid work of the Good Fellows for relief of suffering among the poor is epitomized in a letter of thanks prepared by Mrs. Joseph Koffend, Sr., of the German Ladies Aid society, one of the organizations which expended the fund, Mrs. Koffend says that many homes in Appleton were made bright on Christmas day by the Good Fellows who marked the season and the city with their generosity.

Here is her letter:
To the Good Fellows—
"There is many a poor family in Appleton who will never forget this Christmas as one of the brightest spots in their lives. The Good Fellows of Appleton have marked the season and the city with their great act of unselfish generosity."

"Just another instance of the warmth of Appleton hearts was the Christmas tree in Soldier's Square and the toys with which it was laden on Christmas eve. The Boy Scouts, the civic and business men's organizations deserve all the gratitude we can give them."

"Perhaps some forgot the tuberculosis hospital at Kaukauna but another band of well-doers saw that the patients there were remembered. The Sunshine Club has brought many a sunny hour to those sufferers."

"I feel that the spirit that the Red Cross and these various other organizations has shown should have every public recognition possible."

CALLS MEETING TO TALK WATERWAY

Gov. Blaine Wants Wisconsin
People to Urge St. Lawrence
Project

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—Governor John J. Blaine Thursday called a conference of the citizens of Wisconsin to discuss the development of the St. Lawrence river as a deep waterway.

The conference will be held in Madison, Jan. 18, in the senate chamber of the capitol building, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., according to the governor's announcement.

All civic, commercial and trade organizations and others interested are urged to be represented at the conference.

Organizations intending to send delegates and individuals expecting to attend are asked to notify J. G. D. Mack, state engineer, Madison.

The conference is called by the governor because of the large number of inquiries that have come to his office asking whether active steps are to be taken by this state in the development and promotion of the project.

"The development of the St. Lawrence river as a deep waterway will permit the carrying of Wisconsin products from our inland ports across the ocean," the governor announced.

"For the purpose of receiving a report from those actively engaged in the work of securing the St. Lawrence as an international waterway and for the purpose of crystallizing the sentiment of the state of Wisconsin, and devising and adopting a plan for the purpose of securing the early consummation of this great project, I am calling this conference."

WOMAN IS NEAR DEATH IN EXPLOSION OF STOVE

Sheboygan—Mrs. Ferdinand Jahn is lying in St. Nicholas hospital fighting for her life, her body completely covered with swaths of bandages covering burns received over her body when an explosion in the kitchen stove took place in her home on Wednesday. She is not expected to recover. The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

Fire resulting nearly destroyed the back part of the house. Another fire occurred on the day previous, but quick work of the fire department saved the building.

New York—"As a boy they gave me a little drum, and I beat it—R-r-rum! R-r-rum! R-r-rum!"

In the high-ceilinged, softly lighted reception room of his home on West 77th street, Leopold Auer, a marvel man of the musical world, beat imaginary drum sticks on an invisible drum.

"They saw I had a sense of rhythm," said Auer, "so my father took me to a teacher."

That was the beginning of the career of Leopold Auer, 40 years old, solo violinist of the Russian court, who has to his credit the training of a notable list of artists: Ruth Ray, Thelma Given, Kathleen Parlow, Toscha Seidel, Mischa Elman, Eferem Zimbalist, Jascha Heifetz and others.

Making Artists

The making of an artist? The elderly violinist—he can't be more than five feet tall, is gray-haired and wears his 76 years with a subtle charm—merely thrusts out his hands, palms up, and lifts his shoulders slightly.

"Only the public knows," says Auer. "No specialist can tell whether any particular person will be an artist. Specialists analyze the music. They say the musician is perfect, there is no flaw. The public hears and—with an outward gesture.

"That one is no artist! Why? You don't know, I don't know. The public itself doesn't know. No one knows because the qualities, physical, mental, spiritual and technical are combined in such a way that they cannot be discovered separately."

"There are many technically perfect musicians, who can never become artists."

Auer has been in America only three and one-half years. He fled from home when the Bolsheviks gained control of Russia.

CHEESEMAKER SCHOOL TO OPEN IN MADISON JAN. 30

Madison—Several hundred Wisconsin cheesemakers are expected to attend the two-weeks practical instruction school for cheesemakers to be held at the University of Wisconsin here from Jan. 30 to Feb. 11.

The course will be under the direction of Prof. J. L. Sammis of the university. Cheese experts on the program of lectures and demonstrations include Fred Marty of the Southern Wisconsin Cheesemakers and Dairyman's association, C. M. Geré of the dairy division of the U. S. department of agriculture, and several others.

Free sleeping quarters in the dairy school building at the university will be furnished to all students. Blankets must be brought by the students, however.

Canadian, On Hike Of 9,000 Miles, Stops Here

P. J. McDonald is Walking from Ottawa, Canada, to Strait of Magellan

P. J. McDonald, the globe trotting engineer, who is on a hike of 9,793 miles from Ottawa, Canada, to Punta Arena, Chili, the southernmost tip of South America, stopped in Appleton long enough on Wednesday to eat a good meal, add a few names to his itinerary book and then hoofed it for Oshkosh where he expected to spend the night.

McDonald left Ottawa Nov. 24 and had covered slightly more than 1,000 miles when he reached Appleton. He expects to complete his journey by Dec. 1 of 1922. He explained that he is making the long hike because of a wager by prominent Ottawa men over the possibility of a railroad from Canada to South America and that he is going to show the possibilities of that kind of a route.

The traveler didn't reach Appleton from Kaukauna, where he spent the night, without incident. At Little Chute a youngster pelted him with a snowball and while he was shaking the boy his father ran out and a fight followed. McDonald says he won.

McDonald covers from 25 to 55 miles each day. His longest hike was 57 miles in one day and his shortest was 23 miles. He has worn out six pairs of rubbers since leaving Ottawa but still is wearing the pair of shoes he started out with. His luggage consists of a camera and a few note books. He has plenty of money to finance his trip, he says. Credentials carried by the traveler indicate that he has been connected with the National Geographic society as a lecturer and explorer and spent considerable time in South central Africa. He met Roosevelt in the Dark Continent when the latter was on his famous hunting trip. McDonald has been a frequent contributor to the National Geographic magazine and also to the magazine published by the Royal Geographic society of London.

CLASSON SERIOUSLY ILL AT HIS HOME AT OCONTO

Congressman David G. Classon, Oconto, is said to be suffering from a nervous breakdown at his home and his condition is serious. Mr. Classon recently returned from Washington, where he had been attending the session of congress.

His illness has revived talk of possible opposition at the coming election, if he should decide to make the run again. Thus far State Senator Timothy Burke of Green Bay, has been most prominently mentioned for the place. Burke is a Republican.

HOPE TO SOLVE MYSTERY DEATH IN THIRTY DAYS

By United Press Leased Wire
Palmira, Wis.—District Attorney Ray C. Twining Wednesday started a 30-day hunt for the murderers of the man whose body was found submerged in Miracle Creek here Dec. 15.

With the failure of the coroner's inquest to divulge any tangible information, the authorities, although admitting they are as much in the dark as on the day the body was discovered, set about to run down every possible theory on the murder.

Harold Hahn, Whitewater sport promoter, appeared at the inquest Tuesday and refuted the suggestion made Tuesday that the body might be that of Span Anderson, Beloit wrestler.

LETTERS TO LOVERS

That Kiss At Parting

By Winona Wilcox

Does modesty pay?
The doubt creeps into the minds of many girls today. It is put thus in a letter with a college town post mark:

"I am not a prude. I am human, I am as anxious to have a good time as any girl living; but I will not let men kiss me goodnight, and so I find I'm left out of lots of college affairs."

"Lots of the nicest boys collect a kiss at parting as payment due them after taking a girl to the most ordinary entertainment, as the movies."

"Now they say that no man desires to marry a girl who is not reserved and exclusive. Then why do men make it so hard for a girl to be as reserved as she pretends to be? Does it pay a girl to be perfectly good and to refuse to kiss a man until she is engaged?"

An indirect reply to this critical young woman is contained in a letter from a young man:

"Are the modest girls getting scarce? I am 26, financially prepared to marry. Naturally I admire pretty young girls and I also want a good girl, one who has not been kissed by every chap who has ever acted as her escort. I've been with scores of girls only to find that the kiss-at-parting habit is almost universal. I'm glad to get the kiss I ask for, but I know other men get it, too. And I can't see, as my bride, any one of the girls who has only to be asked to order to deliver the kiss on demand."

"So how can a man tell a modest girl?"

Probably by eliminating all who fall short of his standards!

The above letters contain about all that is to be said concerning the popular kissing habit. It is widely at variance with the ancient tradition for girls—hands off! The latter has its points, for example:

"I have been going with a man six months. Of course mother does not know that he teases for a kiss every time he leaves me. I refuse, absolutely. I'm fond of him. In my heart I wish he would just up and kiss me. But I'm fearful that if I let him kiss me, he will 'quit.' It would break my heart to have him stop calling."

Prudence is more charming to some men than the imprudent girl realizes. Here's another revelation about it, made by a man:

"I called on a girl for the first time, and tried for a kiss when I left. She slapped me. I never knew a girl to act so. I had to get my hat and let myself out of the house. Ought I to write an apology? I would like to know that girl better."

Evidently some girls have redoubtable value of modesty. They are deep thinkers. They perceive that if they cost a good deal, they will be the more valued as wives. Moreover, after marriage, they never will look back on certain episodes with either disgust or shame.

Adventures of the Twins

By Roberta Barton

A Letter
"Say, kiddies" called Can't Penny-winkle, galloping up on Curly in a great hurry. "Did you see a bag of gold?"

"No, sir," said Nick. "I didn't, did you, Nancy?"

But Nancy hadn't either. "Did somebody lose it?" she asked.

"Well not exactly," answered the fairymen, reaching into his pocket and pulling out a letter. "But the Fairy Queen sent me this, and I thought I'd ask you. He unfolded the letter and handed it over. "Read it," he nodded.

Now the Twins were not very far in school. Indeed, they had only got to the page where it said, "There has been a big bun on the bun." But the letter was written in fairy language, so of course it was quite easy to read. Nancy read it out loud. It went like this:

"Dear Captain Pennywinkle. The gnomes have dug a lot of gold out of one of my mountains and put it into a bag and run off with it. My fairy helpers have searched and searched in every one of my Nine Hundred and Ninety Nine Kingdoms and all over the country of the gnomes, but they always come home empty-handed. The other day, however, Silver-Wing, flying through the forest, overheard one of the gnomes say that they had buried it at the foot of the rainbow."

"We looked under one end of the rainbow, but the other end goes down under the ocean waves. Will you kindly ask the Wiggles people if they have seen it. Perhaps Nancy and Nick could find it. As they were smart enough to find my pink pearl. "Hoping you may have good news for me, I am

Your friend,
"THE FAIRY QUEEN."

"Of course, we'll find it, won't we, Nick," said Nancy quickly.

Buckwheat Cakes

There's nothing like real, honest-to-goodness buckwheat cakes and sausage for the winter morning meal. If this makes too heavy a breakfast, try it for luncheon some day when the man of the house is at home.

The old-fashioned buckwheat cake made with yeast is not difficult to digest or prepare. The modern housewife seems to regard yeast as a great mystery, but in fact it's one of the simplest of ingredients and insurance success.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES
One cake yeast, 1/2 cup warm water, 1 quart water, buckwheat flour, 1 scant teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda.

Soften yeast cake in lukewarm water. Add to quart of water also lukewarm. Stir till dissolved and add salt and enough buckwheat flour to make a stiff batter.

Cover and put in a warm place overnight. The crock in which this sponge is "set" must be of good size for the sponge rises during the night. When about ready to bake the cakes dissolve the soda in hot water and beat into the sponge. Let stand 15 minutes and bake on a hot well-greased griddle.

The soda sweetens the cakes and makes them very light. As buckwheat flour differs in its purity it is impossible to give the exact amount necessary for the sponge. This batter may be kept from day to day and really improves with age.

The second night do not add yeast. Add two or three cups of water, salt and buckwheat and put in a warm place to rise. In the morning add the place, just as the first morning. Keep the leftover batter in a cool place during the day.

PORK SAUSAGE
Put the sausage in the frying-pan and add enough hot water to half cover. Cover closely and cook until the water is all cooked away.

When the sausage begins to sizzle prick the skin with a fork. Turn and prick on the other side. Cook brown on both sides.

Sausage must be well cooked and if cooked entirely by frying is apt to be hard and dry. The small amount of water cooks the meat through and keeps it moist.

Cake sausage is browned first on both sides, a little water is then added and the sausage cooked slowly, tightly covered until water is cooked away.

Buckwheat cakes may be made without yeast, but they are not as good.

BUCKWHEAT GRIDDLE CAKES
Two cups buckwheat, about 1 1/2 cups buckwheat flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Mix flour and salt. Dissolve soda in buttermilk and add to flour. Beat well. The secret of the success of these cakes is in the beating. Bake on a hot, well greased griddle.

BAKING POWDER BUCKWHEAT CAKES
One cup buckwheat flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups cold water.

Mix and sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Add milk and water and stir well. Bake at once.

TWO MINISTERS SIT ON AXE MURDERER'S JURY

St. Clairsville, Ohio—Hearing of testimony began here Wednesday in the trial of Andrew Sargent, charged with the axe murders of Mrs. Augusta Burkhead and her daughter, Lillian. Seventy-nine witnesses were to be summoned. Two retired ministers were on the jury. Both declared they were not opposed to capital punishment.

Sargent is charged with slaying the two women with an axe April 7, 1920, and stealing a number of liberty bonds which he is said to have later sold in Indiana.

RURAL CREDIT IS BADGER FARM NEED

Norgord Tells Congressional Committee How Farmers are Financially Hampered

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul—Wisconsin's need of rural short term credits was outlined to a congressional investigating committee at the start of a hearing here Wednesday.

C. P. Norgord, Wisconsin commissioner of agriculture, submitted a lengthy report to the commission based on reports from 419 crop reporters in every township of the state.

"These reporters are private citizens and their reports are based on facts," said Norgord. "They show conclusively that Wisconsin needs rural credits to maintain production." Norgord was backed up by five others representing country bankers, farmers, the Farm Bureau, Federation, the Equity society and merchants.

The commission will hear delegations from other northwest states Wednesday and Thursday. Sessions were held in the senate chambers at the state capitol.

The Wisconsin report said that 60 per cent of Wisconsin farmers were forced to sell their crops at reduced prices in order to obtain funds. Thirty-nine per cent had to sell milk cows and 48 per cent had to sell young dairy cattle in order to obtain money, according to the report. The statistics were based on answers to questionnaires.

Norgord said 1,600 national banks in Wisconsin dictate to the farmers. He urged state supervision instead of federal supervision of banks in order to make farmers more independent.

SENTIMENT GAINS FOR IRISH TREATY

Petitions From Public Are Swaying Decision of Sinn Fein Leaders

By United Press Leased Wire
 Dublin—Petitions demanding ratification of the Anglo-Irish treaty poured into Sinn Fein headquarters here Wednesday.

Due to this display of public sentiment, some of the De Valerians opposed to ratification of the peace pact were reported to have reached decisions to abstain from voting when the roll reconvenes Jan. 3 to reconsider.

This, it was believed, would assure a substantial vote of acceptance of the treaty.

Public organizations throughout the Sinn Fein territory passed resolutions

PLAYS FEATURE WRECKED HOMES

This Season's Theatricals Tend Toward Life Beyond Pale of Convention

(Special to Post-Crescent)

New York—One might surmise from a summary of the current season—successes, and failures alike—that the woman who lives and loves beyond the pale of convention is a casual, common occurrence in the contemporary life of America.

Some of these plays point a moral—that the wages of sin is death.

In others, comedy is fashioned from disrupted homes and broken hearts.

But in most plays of this species the final curtain sets upon a woman embracing the husband of another and a life of ease unmarred by qualms of conscience.

But its very title, "Lilies of the Field," proclaims itself as such a play. Marie Doro is featured.

Others of similar nature introduced this season on Broadway or revived from other seasons for road tours are: "Back Pay," Fannie Hurst's first play, starring Helen Macellar.

"The Circle," with Mrs. Leslie Carter and Estelle Winwood, portraying women who leave their husbands for other men.

"Ambush," a Theater Guild production with Florence Eldredge playing the part of a daughter who solves her father's financial difficulties through the aid of her paramour.

"Daddy's Gone A-Hunting," in which Marjorie Ransome is a wife who leaves her husband to live with another man and finds happiness when he gives her a divorce years later that she may live within convention.

"The Easiest Way," by Eugene Walter, the first great American success of such plays, has been revived and sent on tour with Frances Starr.

"The Gold Diggers," in which Ina Claire was featured last season, is an Avery Hopwood comedy on tour this season.

"The Varying Shore," Elsie Ferguson's newest vehicle.

on the pact and forwarded their decisions to said leaders here.

This week is being observed as "Treaty week" in all southern counties and the Griffith and Collins factions have taken the opportunity to rally their forces for a determined stand when the roll meets.

A triangle in the forest, primitive passion, twentieth century chivalry! Read "The Snowshoe Trail," starting in The Post-Crescent Tuesday, Jan. 3.
